Driven to Inspire.

Born with Spastic Diplegia, a form of cerebral palsy, Nic was told as a child he would never walk and would spend his life reliant on a wheelchair. Through determination and grueling training, he was able to walk unaided by the age of 17 and started to realize his dream of becoming a racing driver. In 2011, he earned a seat in the highly competitive Renault Clio Cup series, a gateway to motorsport for many future successful drivers. After a high-profile first session, Hamilton moved to the European Touring Car Cup and ultimately became the first disabled driver to compete in the British Touring Car Championship. Hamilton has secured a seat in the 2022 British Touring Car Championship as a 'Factory Toyota Driver' with Toyota Gazoo Racing and Speedworks Motorsport.
